

Judge Wolff,

I have lived in Bexar County since 1982. While I did not always agree with your politics, I did consider you a leader. No more. It is now obvious to me that you are just another politically correct, opportunistic politician participating in the national hysteria against all things Confederate.

I am especially disturbed that the decision to remove Confederate items from County property was a unilateral decision by you without input from the public or the other Commissioners. Since when did Bexar County become a dictatorship? You didn't even present a reason for your arbitrary decision.

I ask you to rethink your decision and, at least, seek input from the people of Bexar County and their elected representatives. In any case, if the markers are removed from Bexar County property, I request that they be turned over to the Alamo City Guards Camp #1325, Texas Division, Sons of Confederate Veterans, San Antonio, Texas. I assure you that we treasure these items and will protect them and see that they are made available for public viewing in an appropriate setting.

I look forward to your response.

Russ Lane
